MICHAEL FLOHR

Luck Be a Lady

June 22, 23 & 24, 2012

Seaport Village Gallery • RSVP to pr@ecgallery.com • (619) 238-0320

"Stick with me baby, I'm the guy that you came in with Luck be a lady tonight."

You already know the favorites: Lady Luck, Let it Ride, Shaken Not Stirred. Michael Flohr's urban impressionist paintings are all about the thrill of the moment, the rush of letting luck dictate your fate. This June, Michael Flohr will present an exhibition of paintings that highlight the romance and drama of casino life.

Flohr's deliberate, impressionist brushstrokes strike the canvas like a winning hand. Combining skill and circumstance, his paintings come together piece by piece, aligning by color and shape. Just as a poker player wagers on his surroundings, Flohr's paintings are created in a dialogue with the viewer and his response to the scene.

A night out in a new town, seeking human interaction in the busy, vibrant city; Flohr captures the intimate glance between strangers. He takes risks in his painting, embracing the rush that fills as we go "all in". It's not about reason. Like love, his art is about taking the chance.

It's time to roll the dice and see what fortune brings at EC Galleries! June 23 and 24; join Michael Flohr and live the life of a high roller!
